SOLDAN, April 30.

MARSHAL Sawa, who has rendered himſelf famous by all Sorts of Depredations, is at length totally defeated, with two Thouſand Confederates whom he commanded. This Action, which happened on the 26th Inſtant, near Schrenſky, two Miles from hence, coſt the Ruſſians, headed by Major Salomon, very few Men. All the Confederates, except ſome who ſaved themſelves by Flight, were either killed or made Priſoners. Among the latter is Marſhal Sawa, who is dangerouſly wounded, and ſeveral others.

VIENNA, May 1. The Cauſe of the Conferences which are daily held at this Court has not yet tranſpired. The Import likewiſe of all Deſpatches both from and to the ſame is kept a profound Secret. If we may judge from Appearances, perfect Harmony continues to ſubſiſt between this Court and that of Ruſſia.

COPENHAGEN, May 7. His Daniſh Majeſty has juſt publiſhed an Ordinance to limit the Time of all Mourning, publick and private, to the Space of one Month, and has likewiſe ſignified his Pleaſure that it ſhould be as ſlight as it is to be ſhort.

They write from Conſtantinople that the new Turkiſh Fleet is not yet come out of the Dardanelles, and that the Pacha who has undertaken the Command of the ſame did it on Condition not to depend, in any Degree, upon the Divan. A great Number of Greeks have joined the Ruſſian Squadron, that lies at Anchor in the Road of Paros.

LONDON, May 11.

ACCORDING to Letters from Vienna, a ſecret Treaty is ſaid to be on the Tapis between the Emperour and the Court of Verſailles. The ſame Letters adviſe that a conſiderable Body of Dutch Land Forces had been marched, by Order of the States General, into the Dutch Netherlands on the Auſtrian Lines.

It is confidently affirmed that Advice has been received at the Hague of a Dutch Eaſt Indiaman having been ſunk by a French Man of War, near the Iſland of Ceylon, in Aſia.

Conſiderable Bets are laid in the City that a Rupture takes Place between the French and Dutch within ſix Months, from this Date; in which both the Courts of London and Madrid will, by their Treaties, be obliged to take Part.

This Morning, about ten o'Clock, arrived a Courier from the Hague, with Deſpatches to the Dutch Ambaſſadour, Count de Welderen, which was immediately communicated to his Majeſty, and an Anſwer thereto ſent off with all poſſible Deſpatch, from which it is imagined ſome very extraordinary Affairs are on the Tapis.

A rich loaded Eaſt Indiaman arrived yeſterday at Spithead from Bengal, and has brought over ſome valuable Preſents for his Majeſty, from ſeveral of the principal India Chiefs in thoſe Parts.

The Lights in the Air on Sunday Evening were ſo ſtrong that from Half after ten o'Clock to as much after eleven it was as bright as if there had been a Moon.

Letters from Raguſa mention that the Montenegrins have re-commenced their Operations againſt the Turks.

The lateſt Advices from Conſtantinople inform us that a formidable Inſurrection is broke out among the Tartars north of the Black Sea. This News has thrown the Divan at Conſtantinople into the utmoſt Conſternation. The Grand Seignior ſignified his Intention, in full Divan, of retiring with the moſt faithful of his Court to Adrianople.

This Morning, about two o'Clock, ſixteen of the Priſoners in the King's Bench made a Hole through the Wall of the Priſon, and eſcaped undiſcovered. One of them was confined for a Debt of twenty two Thouſand Pounds, and the others for Sums to a great Amount.

May 16. Certain Advice is received that the Spaniſh Squadron now in the Mediterranean has been increaſed to ten Sail of the Line and four Frigates, who are cruiſing in a direct Courſe from the Iſland of Corſica above Venice and Malta.

Among the many Encouragements given by the Empreſs of Ruſſia to the Engliſh Artiſts, we are informed that Mr. Paton, celebrated for his Excellency in naval Painting, is now employed in executing for her Imperial Majeſty capital Repreſentations of the Victories obtained by her Fleet laſt Summer over the Turkiſh Armament in the Archipelago.

We are aſſured that the Knights of Malta have fitted out a conſiderable Squadron, which have joined the Ruſſian Fleet, and are acting in Conjunction with them in forcing the Paſſage of the Dardanelles.

Laſt Monday arrived a Letter from Mr. Sedney Parkinſon, principal Drawer to Mr. Banks, who with Doctor Solander went in June 1768 to obſerve the Tranſit of Venus over the Diſk of the Sun, June 3, 1769. The Letter gives an Account that they met with great Hardſhips, and were often in Danger to be ſhipwrecked; three of the Ship's Complement who went up the Country in Search of Proviſion periſhed with Cold, and one of the Draughtſmen died a natural Death. They arrived at the deſtined Place the Beginning of February 1769, four Months before the Tranſit, ſtudied the Language of the Country, and became familiar with the Inhabitants, of whom there is a very good Account. They have picked up a vaſt Number of Plants, and other Curioſities, and are expected to be in England ſome Time next Month.

It was this Morning reported that a commercial Treaty is negotiating between this Court and that of Ruſſia.

Extract of a Letter from Chatham, May 19.

"This Forenoon came up the River, from Greenwich, one of the Royal Yachts, on Board of which were the Earl of Sandwich, firſt Lord of the Admiralty, the Earl of Rochford, Secretary of State, the Earl of Denbigh, a Lord of the King's Bedchamber, Lord Viſcount Weymouth, and ſeveral other Gentlemen. In their Way hither they had called at Woolwich and Sheerneſs, where they were received by the Commiſſioners of the Yard and his Officers, as well as by the Captains of the Men of War, Officers of Marines, &c. At three they went on Board the Marlborough of ſeventy four Guns, being the Admiral Sir Peter Denis's Ship, where their Lordſhips dined, accompanied by the Comptrollers and Captains of the Navy. They were ſaluted both at the going on Board and leaving the Ship, which latter was between ſix and ſeven o'Clock; after which they repaired to the Crown Inn at Rocheſter, where they are to ſleep. To-morrow they will viſit the Dockyard, &c. and on Wedneſday, it is ſaid, they will re-embark on Board the ſame Yacht, and proceed in her to Portſmouth and Plymouth; but it is thought they will find ſo many Things neceſſary for the firſt Lord of the Admiralty to know, that their Stay there may be a Day or two longer than they had intended. Sir Peter Denis being extremely ill, was incapable of attending their Lordſhips; ſo that the Honours of the Table were done by Captain Ellis, that Admiral's Captain.

"The Marlborough of ſeventy four Guns, Reſolution of ſeventy four, and St. Alban's of ſixty four, are to be three of the Guardſhips at this Port. The Cornwall, of ſeventy four, is now unrigging, to be paid off, and to undergo a Repair."

We hear that Lady Groſvenor is retired lately into a Nunnery at Paris.

Our Correſpondent at Chatham informs us that Lord Sandwich, having finiſhed all the Buſineſs he went there upon, embarked on Board the Yacht, with the reſt of the Noblemen and Gentlemen of his Suite, yeſterday Morning, between nine and ten o'Clock, and ſailed down the Medway, to proceed upon a like Viſitation to Portſmouth and Plymouth.

The Affair which happened on Tueſday laſt in the Green Park, between an Engliſh Nobleman and an Italian Count, was occaſioned, as we have been informed, by the Event related in the following Story. Lord Ligonier had frequently obſerved Inſtances of Levity in his Lady's Behaviour when in Company with the Count, and thought proper to give her Ladyſhip ſome gentle Reproofs on the Occaſion; intimating, that, however unqueſtionable her Virtue might be, her Reputation was at Stake. This had no other Effect than to alarm her Pride, for her Conduct remained the ſame. His Lordſhip had, ſome Time after this, been detained in Town by Buſineſs which would not permit him to return with his Lady to their Country Seat, in the Neighbourhood of which the Count had taken up his Reſidence. It happened laſt Week that a lower Apartment of his Lordſhip's Country Houſe had been found open early in the Morning. This Circumſtance occaſioned mutual Upbraidings between the Servants; when each obſtinately denying the Charge of Neglect, one of them, an old Servant, was bent upon making a farther Diſcovery. Accordingly he took the Reſolution of ſitting up the next Night, to watch in this Apartment. About Midnight, to his Aſtoniſhment, he ſaw his Lady enter the Room, and (on a Signal given by the Count) admit him through the Window and conduct him up Stairs, where he remained until about four o'Clock in the Morning, and then departed by the ſame Avenue at which he entered. In the Morning, the Servant came to Town and acquainted his Lord with the important Diſcovery, who immediately haſtened to the Coffeehouſe frequented by the Count and charged him with the Injury he had done to his Honour, and inſiſted on Satisfaction at the Point of his Sword. The Count neither denied the Charge nor declined the Satisfaction deſired. They repaired to the Park without Seconds, and ſoon after they had engaged, his Lordſhip dropping his Sword, his Antagoniſt ſuppoſed him wounded, and deſired to know if he required farther Satisfaction. His Lordſhip replied, that he did not deſire to live, but he would not die cowardly. On reſuming the Conflict, the Count received a Wound in the Sword Arm, and two other ſlight Wounds, and then dropped his Sword. Lord Ligonier attended him to the Surgeon, where his Wounds were dreſſed. His Lordſhip, we hear, will proſecute for Damages, and ſue out a Divorce.

Lady Ligonier is the Daughter of Mr. George Pitt, late Ambaſſadour at Turin. She is now at her Father's, and he was but juſt returned from a Tour to the Continent the very Day on which ſhe was ſo diſgracefully ſent back. Her Lord, the next Day, wrote a Card of Condolance to the afflicted Father, and, with an extraordinary Degree of Generoſity, offered to make any Allowance of his Eſtate for her Ladyſhip's Maintenance which he himſelf ſhould think equitable.

The Action brought by Lord Viſcount Ligonier againſt Count A——i, for criminal Connexions with the aforeſaid Nobleman's Wife, is preparing to come in next Term. His Lordſhip ſues for twenty Thouſand Pounds Damages.

A noble Lord is ſaid to have been offered a Douceur of five Thouſand Pounds, by a French Count, to ſtop all Proceedings againſt him for ſome familiar Intercourſe with his Lady.

Count A——i, who was wounded in a Duel with Lord Ligonier, is Nephew to the Spaniſh Ambaſſadour.

The Annals of Gallantry have acquired a freſh Field of Converſation in the polite World. A certain Baronet, who lately enjoyed an Office under the Crown, but who is now a very reſpectable Member in the Oppoſition, being deſirous of paſſing a few Hours at a celebrated Nunnery inſtituted to the Honour of the Cyprian Queen, where the good Mother Abbeſs is often viſited by Ladies of real Title, though with all imaginable Circumſpection, procured a Recommendation from a Friend, as he was himſelf a total Stranger to the venereal Prieſteſs of Pleaſure, and, carefully concealing his own Name, was received with great Civility. In the Courſe of ſome Converſation the Baronet's Liberality ſo far gained the good Opinion of the Hoſteſs that ſhe offered him the Company of a married Lady of conſiderable Rank; and after the cuſtomary Exactions of inviolable Secrecy, conducted him to an Apartment, where he found his——own Wife. The Confuſion that enſued may be imagined, but cannot be deſcribed; both, however, retired in a State of the utmoſt Perturbation, though not together.

A great Traveller and Phyſiognomiſt lately obſerved that he never ſaw two Men reſemble one another more than the King of Pruſſia and Lord Chatham; the look of either indicates a Greedineſs of ſwallowing the whole World.

The Permanency of the publick Tranquillity in Europe will be determined by the Operations on the Continent. Should the Emperour of Germany oppoſe the Ruſſians in croſſing the Danube, and draw his Sword in Defence of the Grand Seignior, it will not fail to draw all the other Powers into a Rupture, from their Treaties now ſubſiſting.

May 17. Letters by the Packet from Bengal mention that Rice is now very plenty, and that the Sickneſs occaſioned by Famine, &c. had entirely ceaſed. The Accounts of the Numbers who died are ſtill very contradictory, but fewer Europeans died that Year than the former. Some Letters ſay that the Morattas are likely to join ſome of the Indian Powers, in Order to make War on the Britiſh Settlements. Trade is ſaid to be very dull, and that there is little Proſpect of any Perſon's acquiring a Fortune, except thoſe who go out in the Company's civil Employ; and it is now very difficult getting out of the Way.

By Letters from Choczim we learn that Major General Wiſeman, having with ſeven Hundred and twenty light Troops, paſſed the Danube, attacked a Body of five Thouſand Turks, killed five Hundred, took one Hundred, and diſperſed the reſt. Among the Priſoners is a Pacha who commanded a Thouſand Men, with ſeveral Agas. His Trophies conſiſt in two Pieces of Cannon and ſix Standards, beſides twenty nine Cannon, which were thrown into the River.

They write from Conſtantinople that warlike Preparations are carried on with the greateſt Activity, and we are aſſured that the Turkiſh grand Army will amount to three Hundred Thouſand Men. Proviſions are exceſſive dear. Not only Giurgovo, but alſo the City of Sinope, ſituated on the Black Sea, in Natolia, is taken by the Ruſſians; and three Men of War upon the Stocks were burnt. The Iſland of Chios, having refuſed to pay a Contribution of one Hundred Thouſand Piaſters, has been taken by the Ruſſians, in Spite of all the Efforts of the Pacha of the Dardanelles and the Captain Pacha; three Algerine Zebecks were burnt, and the other Ships ſent to its Aſſiſtance were diſperſed.

The laſt Letters from Venice inſinuate that there is the higheſt Probability of an Action between the Spaniſh and Ruſſian Squadrons, ſhould the latter perſiſt in their Deſign of forcing the Paſſage of the Dardanelles.

The Turkiſh Army broke up their Camp and quitted the Environs of Adrianople about the Middle of March, and are gone for Siſtiria; they have double the Number of Cannon with them they had in the laſt Campaign.

By a Letter from Marſeilles, of the 17th of April, we hear that the Ottoman Fleet continues in the Straits of the Dardanelles, to defend the Paſſage. Haſſan Bey continues at the Head of his Troops, at Lemnos.

May 18. They write from Peterſburg that notwithſtanding the Reports of an approaching Peace the greateſt Preparations are making all over the Empire, both by Sea and Land, as if her Imperial Majeſty had other Enemies to guard againſt beſides the Grand Seignior.

May 21. A Letter from Italy ſays that the Treaty between the Holy See and the Houſe of Bourbon is finally ſettled, in which the Court of France conſents to reſtore Avignon to the Pope. The Court of Rome conſents to cede to the Infant of Parma the Places which that Prince has taken Poſſeſſion of, and that the General of the Jeſuits ſhall be raiſed to the Purple; but that the Body is no longer to exiſt as a religious Order.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, May 14.

"According to Letters from Madrid, the King of Spain appears firmly reſolved, and invariably determined, to effect, let the Conſequence be what it will, the Suppreſſion of the Society of Jeſuits; in Order to which his Catholick Majeſty has ſent a new Order to Mr. Aſprau, his Ambaſſadour reſident at Rome, to inſiſt on and labour the Point moſt ardently with the Pope for the Diſſolution of that pernicious Society.

"We are informed that the Averſion of the Spaniſh Monarch to the Jeſuits is increaſed, ſince a farther and more ſcrupulous Search has lately been made in the Houſes which theſe Sons of Loyola poſſeſſed in Spain; whereby it was diſcovered that theſe Hypocrites had concealed to the Value of near ſeventy Millions of Piaſters, and many Papers of Importance."

They write from Roterdam that the French King had ſent Agents to negotiate a large Loan on publick Security, which was univerſally rejected by the Merchants of that City.

Yeſterday being Whitſunday, the ſame was obſerved at Court. At Noon his Majeſty, preceded by the Heralds and Purſuivants, went to the Chapel Royal, and heard a Sermon preached by his Grace the Archbiſhop of York, from the fifth Chapter of the firſt Epiſtle of St. Peter: "Caſting all your Care upon him, for he careth for you." Lord Cadogan carried the Sword of State. His Majeſty afterwards received the Sacrament from the Hands of London, aſſiſted by the ſub Dean, and made the uſual Offering.

Mr. Alderman Oliver has never once viſited the Lord Mayor ſince the Day of his Enlargement from the Tower, when he dined at the Manſion Houſe; nor has he once ſent to inquire after his Lordſhip's Health, although it is known how ill he has been.

The Lady of a foreign Ambaſſadour much diſtinguiſhed for the Graces of her Perſon is ſaid to be ſo much anglicied as to have decorated the Forehead of a Count, her Huſband, very handſomely. A Sum of Money which the Count miſſed, and which it ſeems was given for ſecret Services to his Secretary, led to the Diſcovery of this delicate Tranſaction.

All the Greeks in the Neighbourhood of Argentum, in the Night of the 4th Ultimo, revolted to the Ruſſian Fleet, lying near the Dardanelles.

Extract of a Letter from Riga, in Livonia.

"We have here had the greateſt Inundations known in the Memory of Man. They have carried off a great Number of Houſes, with all their Contents, into the Sea. We were Spectators of this diſmal Misfortune. The Ruins of the Houſes, with their Inhabitants, paſſed by this City; but the Impetuoſity of the Torrents prevented us from giving them any Aſſiſtance. We have loſt all our building Timber in the Neighbourhood; our Buildings, however, have received no Damage from the breaking of the Ice."

We learn from Rome that there has been a Diſcovery made at Paleſtrina which muſt throw great Light on the Roman Hiſtory. They have diſcovered a Circus on which are deſcribed all the Roman Kalendars, as well civil as political and ſacred, from the Foundation of the City. The Diſcovery is ſo much the more intereſting as it is quite authentick. All around is found the Deſcription of it by a famous Grammarian of the Time, who was employed in adjuſting theſe Kalendars. Cardinal Stoppani, who is Biſhop of the Place, has ordered it to be exactly ſcooped and cleared at his Expenſe.

We are told that in Order to give ſome Check to the Spirit of Gallantry, ſo predominant among the Great, and to make a Senſe of Pride operate in the Room of Virtue, it is likewiſe under Conſideration to prevent all Ladies, except thoſe of irreproachable Character, from appearing in the Drawing Room.

The Amour of a certain Admiral's Lady was diſcovered by the following Accident. Her Ladyſhip met her Gallant at a noted Bagnio not a Mile from Charing Croſs. Before they retired to the Bedchamber they had been raiſing their Spirits, in another Room, with a Glaſs of Champaigne. Preſently after a Gentleman was ſhown into the ſame Room the Lovers had juſt gone out of, where he found a Handkerchief of the Lady's, which ſhe had unfortunately left behind her, with the Name upon it at full Length, done with the new invented Types and Liquor. The Gentleman happened to be an intimate Friend of the Admiral's; and calling up the Waiter inquired where the Lady was who had left that Handkerchief there. The Waiter heſitated; but the Gentleman peremptorily inſiſting on the Information, the Fellow told him in what Room ſhe was. The Gentleman went, burſt the Door open, ſatisfied himſelf in the Truth, and immediately departed to give the injured Huſband the diſagreeable News. What followed the World has been acquainted with.

The Letter tranſmitted by the Lord Mayor to the Secretaries of State was dropped by a Man about twelve o'Clock on Thurſday laſt on the Royal Exchange, and picked up by Mr. Thomas Hyman, in the Preſence of ſeveral Gentlemen, and immediately brought to Baker's Coffeehouſe. It was then carried to Alderman Haliſax, by whoſe Advice it was taken to Alderman Trecothick, at that Time Locum Tenens, at Merchant Tailors Hall, who directed it to be given to the Lord Mayor, which was accordingly done.

We hear that a great Perſonage has earneſtly ſignified a Deſire that an immediate Inquiry be made into the Cauſe of the preſent moſt exorbitant Price of Proviſions, and to ſeverely puniſh thoſe who ſhall be found to have occaſioned this artificial Calamity.

The following droll Affair happened on Friday laſt, in High Holborn. Some young Men having tied an old broken Chair to the Tail of a large Dog, turned him out into the Street; away he ran with great Swiftneſs, and in his Way the Chair catched Hold of the Gown of a very genteel dreſſed Woman, and threw her down with great Force. The Dog being very ſtrong, and the Chair holding in her Gown, he drawed her a little Way along the Pavement, and bruiſed her in ſeveral Places. But this was not the worſt of the Scene; the Lady having her Hair dreſſed in the modern perpendicular Taſte, the Violence of the Fall ſhook down this temporary Monument to the very Foundation, and great was the Fall! The Materials with which it was erected were as follows: A Piece of black Stocking ſtuffed with black Wool, and made proportionable to the Manner in which the Hair was dreſſed; and on the Outſide was Hair very ingeniouſly worked into the Stocking. Upon this ſurpriſing Piece of Workmanſhip was frizzed the Lady's own Hair, in Order to raiſe the Edifice. She being diſentangled got up, and complained of being hurt a little; but took no Notice of her Piece of Ornament for the Head, which ſome Boys had got Hold of, kicking about the Streets as a Football.

Extract of a Letter from the Hague, May 3.

"The Kingdom of France is in an abſolute State of Confuſion, Slavery, and Poverty. All their Priſons are full, and their Shops empty. Their Coffeehouſes are full of ſmall Politicians, who live upon Politicks all Day, and go to Bed at Night after having eat a Cruſt of Bread and drank a Glaſs of Water. There are continual Draughts from theſe Coffeehouſes to fill the ſeveral Priſons. It is no ſmall Conſolation for an Engliſhman that he can cry out when he is hurt; ſhould a Frenchman do it, he would pay dear for his Temerity."

To the Reverend Mr. HORNE.

SIR, PRINCE'S COURT, May 15.

I HAVE waited, with Impatience, ever ſince November, for the Juſtification of your Account of the Weſtminſter Buſineſs, in the very Preface of which you advanced the Falſehood that you were READY to vouch the Authenticity of it. I called upon you, in Print, the Day-after its Publication. In your Letter of January 16th, you declared, "the Weſtminſter Buſineſs I ſhall reſerve for my future Letter." Another Letter now appears, which neither mentions nor promiſes any Thing on that Subject. Now you trifle with the Publick; before, you dared to impoſe.

You ſay, "it is not my Intention here to open any Account with you "on the Score of private Character; in that Reſpect, the Publick have "kindly paſſed an Act of Inſolvency in your Favour." I believe, indeed, you will not chooſe to open any Account on the Score of private Character. A Gentleman in holy Orders, whoſe Hand appears to teſtify his Belief of the Church of England, the leaſt moral, the leaſt conſcientious of Men, whoſe Life has been in a conſtant direct Oppoſition to the Precepts of the Goſpel, whoſe Creed, from the firſt Article in it to the laſt, is known to be non credo, ſuch a Perſon, with wonderful Prudence, chooſes not to open any Account on the Score of private Character. I do not mean, Sir, to be impertinent enough to a Publick, whom I reſpect, to deſcend to thoſe Particulars of private Life in which they are not intereſted, either to accuſe you or to defend myſelf. The Frailties of which I have repented I will not juſtify. I will not even plead, with Horace,

Nec luſiſſe pudet, ſed non incidere ludum.

But I hope to redeem, and bury in Oblivion, every paſt Folly, by great and virtuous Actions, by real Services to my Country.

Your Letter of yeſterday contains no Charge, although it promiſes many. Every One ſhall be fully anſwered. I have only to deſire that your future Letter, or Letters, may appear before Midſummer Day; becauſe it is poſſible, that, by the Favour of the Livery of London, I may, after that Time, be wholly engaged in preparing for the Duties of a very important Office, and the faithful Diſcharge of the Sheriff's Oath, not of that which you falſified.

I am, Sir,
Your humble Servant,
JOHN WILKES.

LEEDS, May 14. On Wedneſday laſt there was a great Deal of Thunder and Lightning in this Neighbourhood, by which a poor old Woman at Kebb Cot, near Heptonſtall, was ſtruck dead, and a large Aſh Tree in a Field near this Town was torn up by the Roots. At Bradford, two Houſes being ſituated cloſe to each other, the Lightning entered them both together, and was ſuppoſed to ſeparate itſelf into two Parts; one of which deſcended down the Outſide of the Chimney, in an upper Apartment, ploughed down Part of the Plaiſter, ſplit the Poll and Cornice of a Bed, in which a Man, his Wife, and Child, were laid, who were ſo terribly affrighted by it that the Woman jumped out of Bed, ran down Stairs in her Shirt only, and in that Condition both alarmed and affrighted the whole Neighbourhood. It entered like a blazing Torch, in a triangular Form, into the other Houſe, where two Perſons were ſet, and another ſtanding by the Fire; but in a Moment all was pitchy Darkneſs around them, occaſioned, it is ſuppoſed, by its bringing ſo large a Quantity of Soot down the Chimney with it, as not only covered the Fire, but the greateſt Part of the Room alſo. It broke the Stone on which the Mullion of the Window reſts, and ſeveral Panes of Glaſs; after which it made its Way out through the upper Apartments, without doing any farther Damage.

By a Letter from Staffordſhire we are informed that there was hardly ever known a more promiſing Proſpect for Plenty of Corn, Hay, &c. than at preſent. The Change that the laſt Fortnight has brought about is inconceiveable; the Graſs they can almoſt ſee grow, and Fruit of all Kinds is expected in Abundance. Meat ſtill continues very dear, though now the Price begins to fall.

PORTSMOUTH, May 12. About a Month ago a Seaman on Board one of the Ships of War at Spithead, being diſordered in his Senſes, with his left Hand laid Hold of a fixed Piece of Iron, ſomewhat higher than his Head, and with a ſharp Knife cut round his Wriſt cloſe to the Bone, and then broke the Bone acroſs his Knee, and flung the Hand into the Sea, ſaying he had the Scripture to direct him; that Hand offended him, therefore he cut it off and caſt it from him. The poor Wretch was taken Care of.

The Poſtſcript of a Letter received from a Gentleman in Norfolk, well verſed in Agriculture, ſays: "We are likely to have, on all Accounts, the moſt plentiful Year that has been known ſince the Year 1734, as we have had two of the fineſt Seed Times we ever remember."

GLASGOW, May 31. Since Thurſday Morning laſt there has fallen here the greateſt Quantity of Rain ever remembered at this Seaſon of the Year; it rained for four Days and four Nights, almoſt without Intermiſſion, which has ſwelled all the Rivers in this Part of the Country to a greater Degree than has been known theſe many Years paſt, and laid all the low Grounds entirely under Water. On Saturday Part of the temporary Bridge, and the Timber Supports erected for throwing over two Arches of the new Bridge, were ſwept away by the Rapidity of the River. It is confidently reported that a Paſſage Boat, with two Men and ſix Paſſengers on Board, was wrecked off Dumbarton on Sunday laſt, and all on Board periſhed.

DUBLIN, May 4. Affairs here are in a very tickliſh Situation; the Lord Lieutenant dare not ſtir from the Caſtle, a Guard of Military conſtantly patroling the Streets. The late Speaker (Mr. Ponſonby) the Marquis of Kildare, Charles Lucas, and Flood, are idolized by us, as much as Croſby, Oliver, and Wilkes, are by you. Our Courtiers here are in Terrour of their Lives, as the Iriſh Mob is remarkably deſperate; a patriotick chief Magiſtrate here would not long remain a State Priſoner; Matters in the Country are really terrible. We are in hourly Apprehenſions of being maſſacred by the White Boys, Oak Boys, and Hearts of Steel, three deſperate Popiſh Factions, conſiſting of many Thouſands each, who ſet up for Supporters of Liberty. What will that Word come to at laſt! We indeed ſtring the White Boys every Day; and ſince we made an Example of Sheepy, their Prieſt, they are not ſo open in their Outrages. The worſt of us Iriſh is that we are always in Extremes, and eaſily to be led to do any Thing. Any Fellow who throws up his Cap and huzzas for Liberty is with us a Patriot, when I do not conceive ſuch a Creature exiſts, if we but come up to the Price.

We have Cauſe of Complaint on Account of the Dearneſs of Proviſions, as well as the Engliſh; prime Pieces of Beef and Mutton are here at Sixpence a Pound, Lamb eightpence, Veal ſevenpence, and Butter tenpence.

WILLIAMSBURG, Auguſt 8.

CAPTAIN Robertſon, in the Virginian, a fine new Ship that will carry ſeven Hundred Hogſheads, in the Employ of John Norton, Eſquire, and Son, is arrived in York River, from London. There are no Letters come up to Town from her yet; but as we hear ſhe had two Months Paſſage, ſhe can have brought very little later News than we had laſt Week from Glaſgow.

The Chriſtian, Brown, from Borroſtowneſs, and the Betſey, Wilkinſon, from Liverpool, are arrived in James River.

There is a Report that the Lord Camden, Captain Johnſton, which lately ſailed from Rappahannock River, for London, laden with Tobacco, foundered at Sea; and that all on Board periſhed, including a Number of Paſſengers.

The ſaid Land is well watered and timbered, and the Plantation is in good Order, with a very fine Apple Orchard, from which are made ſeven or eight Thouſand Gallons of Cider a Year (that Quantity has been made on an Average ever ſince the Year 1756) the Trees are of the beſt Kind of Fruit, and the Cider as good as any on the Continent. The Situation of the Place is convenient to Trade, lies fourteen Miles from the Falls of Rappahannock, twelve from Dumfries, on Potowmack, ſeven from Aquia Warehouſe, the ſame Diſtance from Aquia Church, ſix from the Quaker Meeting Houſe, five from the Baptiſt Meeting Houſe, in Fauquier County, four from Chapawamſick Meeting Houſe, in Stafford County, and not quite three Miles from two Griſt Mills. POETS CORNER.

The COUNTRYMAN and his ASS.

AN Aſs once left his Maſter's Home
(For Aſſes ever lov'd to roam)
Vex'd at his Loſs, the Ruſtick hy'd
T' a neighbouring Town, to have him cry'd;
'Tis done! but ah! the Hire and Pains
Were vain, unfound the Aſs remains.
Next Market Day he try'd once more,
But loſt his Labour as before.
As twice ſucceſsleſs he'd eſſay'd,
The Clown began to be diſmay'd;
But as Rewards oft-times prevail,
When other Means are known to fail,
Whoe'er ſhall bring him to the Crier
A Pig ſhould pay their Pains the Hire.
The Crier, a well known, waggiſh Blade,
That long was hackney'd in the Trade,
With a loud Voice bawl'd out, "Whoe'er
"Will come, and ſolemnly declare,
"He never was in all his Life
"In Love, with Widow, Maid, or Wife,
"On ſuch Confeſſion, inſtantly,
"A fat Pig his Reward ſhall be."
A looby Clown, who, liſtening near,
Stood 'midſt the joſtling Crowd to hear,
With noiſy Zeal put in his Claim,
And vow'd, "He ne'er lov'd any Dame."
The Crier quickly ſeiz'd the Lout,
And hawling him along by's Snout,
Soon as he found his Country Friend,
Quoth he, "Our Search is at an End;
"Here is the long loſt Aſs of thine,
"Pray bang him well—the Pig is mine."
